

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus for sync hunting signals is described. In one embodiment of the invention, a computer implemented method comprises receiving a signal and synchronization hunting concurrently for a first and second frame alignment pattern for a first and second alignment candidates.

US 2004/0183112 A1